

The Tory-Lib Dem government wants to restore healthcare to the hands of private enterprise. Thousands of jobs are at risk, private patients will be put ahead of NHS patients for care and essential services are being poached as profit is put before need. There can be no doubt the scale of this attack on the NHS is unprecedented.

But we cannot save the NHS by appealing to the better nature of MPs, or at the ballot box. We didn't vote for the NHS, we won it.

Labour were merely the inheritors of the cross-party consensus that, as the Tory MP Quintin Hogg put it, "if we don't give them reform, they'll give us revolution." Labour simply oversaw William Beveridge's recommendations to stop a war-weary working class turning their anger - and their guns - on the ruling class.

Labour say that the NHS is only safe in their hands - this is a lie. It was Labour's Private Finance Initiative that got these attacks rolling. The Tories are merely finishing the job, and no political party offers a serious challenge.

It is only through direct action - strikes, blockades, occupations - that we can hope make the government back off. Don't vote Labour to stop the Tories – fight Labour as well as the Tories!

Don't vote - ORGANISE!

Produced by Solidarity Federation - Liverpool Local
A revolutionary union initiative. Part of the International Workers
Association (IWA) | www.solfed.org.uk | liverpool@solfed.org.uk

The Tory-Lib Dem government wants to restore healthcare to the hands of private enterprise. Thousands of jobs are at risk, private patients will be put ahead of NHS patients for care and essential services are being poached as profit is put before need. There can be no doubt the scale of this attack on the NHS is unprecedented.

But we cannot save the NHS by appealing to the better nature of MPs, or at the ballot box. We didn't vote for the NHS, we won it.

Labour were merely the inheritors of the cross-party consensus that, as the Tory MP Quintin Hogg put it, "if we don't give them reform, they'll give us revolution." Labour simply oversaw William Beveridge's recommendations to stop a war-weary working class turning their anger - and their guns - on the ruling class.

Labour say that the NHS is only safe in their hands - this is a lie. It was Labour's Private Finance Initiative that got these attacks rolling. The Tories are merely finishing the job, and no political party offers a serious challenge.

It is only through direct action - strikes, blockades, occupations - that we can hope make the government back off. Don't vote Labour to stop the Tories – fight Labour as well as the Tories!

Don't vote - ORGANISE!

Produced by Solidarity Federation - Liverpool Local
A revolutionary union initiative. Part of the International Workers
Association (IWA) | www.solfed.org.uk | liverpool@solfed.org.uk

